The following extract from "Only my Friends call me Crouks" :- By 723507 WO II Dew Croukamp BCR page 102/103 reads about our pilot XXX. Operation Cauldron 1968 the bombs from the 2 Canberra's sounded all to close …. It dawned on me the bombs had hit us … thus from the bombing of 13 troop the 13 troop flag theme was born – yellow bombs on a blue background. Pride of Eagles by Beryl Salt page 418 discussed the incident and follows a Canberra from S Squadron piloted by xxx using frag mentation bombs, owing to a misunderstanding some bombs were dropped on Security Force positions, causing injuries. As a result of this, the squadrons techniques were changed from medium to low level. (This bombing attack was the first Canberra bombing attack, in support of ground troops of the war. Thus, a lesson was learnt and procedures rectified) Further references Pride of Eagles page 307 and 314.

Thorpe WW1 War Medal – Corporal A.Thorpe – 4th S.A.I. • Free Masons Medal (Albert Edward Lodge) – Presented to Wor Bro A Thorpe President Albert Edward Lodge 1917-18 Aubrey Thorpe was born on 23rd August 1877 at Hastings in Sussex, U.K. He enlisted with the Northumberland Fusiliers at Aldershot on 10th January 1895. He was appointed Lance Corporal on 13th November the same year, then promoted to Corporal on 29th February 1896. On the 30th November 1898 he was promoted to Sergeant, and on 1st September 1900 he was promoted to the rank of Colour Sergeant. Colour Sergeant was in effect what in today's Infantry would be the Company Sergeant Major. Late in 1896 he was posted to Gibraltar and on the 17th January 1898 being posted with the Regiment to Egypt. He was at the battle of Khartoum which took place on 2nd September 1898. He was posted to South Africa 0n the 16th September 1899, serving with the regiment until the end of hostilities. On the 23rd June 1902 he was posted to the reserves and remained there until the 9th January 1907. During the South African War 1899-1902 he was involved with the Relief of Mafeking, and was present at the Battles of Belmont and Modder River. At the battle of Modder River the Fusiliers lost 11 men killed and 34 wounded. The Regiment was not involved in	VF+	14000

	the battle of Magersfontein as they were involved in holding the camp and making a diversion along the railway to the left of the real attack. The Regiment saw little action in the first quarter of 1900, and after the fall of Bloemfontein the Regiment occupied Hoopstad, before moving to the Kroonstad district to protect Roberts's lines of communication. The Regiment saw action at Lindley in June 1900, before moving into the Western Transvaal in pursuit of Boer General de Wet. Early in 1901 the Regiment was involved in a battle at Lichtenburg with the Boers where 15 men were killed and 26 wounded. Late in 1901, as part of Methuens Brigade, the Regiment were attacked by de la Rey near Zeerust where the regiment had 13 men killed and 14 wounded. Early in 1902 the Regiment was again in action against de la Rey in the Klerksdorp district where they had 12 men killed and 62 wounded. Aubrey moved to South Africa after the South African War and enlisted with the 1st South African Infantry a few months before the end of WW1. When he attested on the 20th September 1918 he was married and had 6 children – aged 10, 9, 7. 6, 5 and 4 years of age. He gave his occupation as that of a Shift Boss. Including 27 Pages of research. 	NATAL REBELLION
A008	Natal Rebellion Medal – bar 1906 to Trooper G. REDINGER – Umvoti Divisional Reserve (88 medals issued to this Unit of which 27 were without clasp) The unit was part of the Umvoti Field Force under Colonel G Leuchars and were engaged at Mpukunyoni on the 28th May 1906. On the night of the 26th the sentries and pickets were ordered to be on the alert for an attack, and at first light, a patrol was sent		4000

	out to locate the rebel force which had been spotted the previous evening. The rebels were found preparing to attack having made skilful use of the ground and, in the initial attack, attempting to stampede cattle into the Militia position. A volley killed the cattle and some of the men driving them. The rebels then tried to rush the Umvoti Field Force, but there was sufficient open ground for the Militia rifle fire to prevent the rebels from closing in. As it got light, three snipers, positioned on a ridge, began to pick out targets and caused all the Umvoti Field Forces' casualties in the action - four killed or dying d of wounds received, and 24 wounded. The Umvoti Field Force, after countering the sniper attack, mounted a counter attack and the rebels broke and ran. About 100 of the rebel forces of 800 were killed in this engagement. A009	Pair QSA (2 Bars – CC; Orange Free State) to 839 E Sheppard – Cape Town Highlanders; WW1 S1914-15 Star Private E. Sheppard – 8th Infantry (Tvl. Scottish) The QSA has been renamed to Schoefer, but the research done (and included) on the medal indicates that No. 839 was issued to E Sheppard – the same person who enlisted with the 8th Infantry in 1914. The engraving on the QSA has the original number and the Regiment – Cape Town Highlanders. Both surnames have 8 characters, so it wouldn't have been that difficult to rename. That both medals have been kept together, could Schoefer have been related to Sheppard? Certainly, worth more research. Including 4 pages of research		1000
