recommendation is made:

"This rating has been a tower of strength since the start of the commission. During the action his coolness and leadership were far above average throughout. His forethought in overhauling our smoke making devices just previous to sailing played a large part in the safety of the convoy. His personal courage and alertness was an inspiring example to all."

*The Order of Battle of the 5th Destroyer Flotilla (Hunt class escort destroyers) for the Second Battle of Sirte on 22 March 1942 was as follows: HM Ships Southwold, Beaufort, Dulverton, Hurworth, Avon Vale, Eridge and Heythrop).

Bar to the D.S.M. London Gazette 4 April 1944.

Chief Engine Room Artificer Sidney Harold Horsey D.S.M., D/MX. 46538 (Southampton).

*"For undaunted courage, determination and endurance in H.M. Ships Sirius, Penelope, Carlisle, Aurora, Belvoir, Hurworth, Echo, Faulknor, Pathfinder, Penn, Fury, Beaufort, Jervis, Hursley, Intrepid, Petard, Eclipse, Rockwood, Dulverton, Croome, Aldenham, Blencathra, the Polish Ship Krakowiak, the Greek Ship Adrias and in light Coastal Forces in many sweeps in the Aegean under fierce and constant attack from the air, and in maintaining supplies to the islands of Kos and Leros until they fell to superior forces."

The recommendation indicates as follows:

Sidney Harold Horsey, C.E.R.A. D/MX 46538, H.M.S. Beaufort, Home town-Southampton.

Operations in connection with the Defence of Leros between 8th October and 15th November, 1943.

Description of the services in respect of which recommendation is made:

"During this period Beaufort set out for the Aegean on eight occasions, actually operating in those waters on six; came under intensive bombing attack on two; (Daylight/15th October and Night/ 19-20th October) and under more air attack on two; carried out bombardments of Kos harbour on four occasions, during three of which the ship was heavily shelled by shore defences at close range in return; landed 53 men and 30 tons of equipment on Leros. All the foregoing being carried out without casualties or damage."

For skill, endurance and devotion to duty.

"Long periods of high speed steaming threw considerable strain on the machinery and, during a period when any breakdown might well have been disastrous, his example and exertions, both at sea and in harbour, contributed largely to the continued efficient running of the ship."

*The Order of Battle of the 5th Destroyer Flotilla (Hunt class escort destroyers) for the Operations in the Aegean during October and November 1943 was as follows: HM Ships Hurworth, Beaufort and Dulverton.

Activities of HM Ship Beaufort in the Aegean during October and November 1943.

Deployment in support of Aegean Operations.

October 1943.

HM Destroyer Beaufort transferred to Alexandria with the HM Ships of the 5th destroyer Flotilla for the support of Operations in the Aegean after the Italian surrender. (Note: British troops were to be landed on the Islands to prevent any attempt to land German troops).

7th HM Destroyer Beaufort bombards positions on the Island of Kos with HM Destroyer FAULK NOR and the Greek destroyer PINDOS.

10th HM Destroyer Beaufort deploys on interception patrols to prevent landings. HM Destroyer Beaufort comes under heavy air attacks.

11th HM Destroyer Beaufort bombards positions on the Island of Leros with HM Destroyer FAULK NOR and the Greek destroyer PINDOS.

12th HM Destroyer Beaufort deploys with HM Cruiser PHOEBE and HM Escort Destroyer BELVOIR to locate a Convoy but withdraws after coming under air attacks.

15th HM Destroyer Beaufort carries out an unsuccessful search with HM Escort Destroyer BELVOIR for two merchant ships and a landing craft taking enemy reinforcements to Kos.

17th HM Destroyer Beaufort escorts HM Cruiser SIRIUS with HM Destroyers PATHFINDER and ECLIPSE to Leros taking reinforcement to garrison. After joining HM Cruiser AURORA HM Destroyer Beaufort comes under a further series of air attacks during which HM Cruiser SIRIUS is hit.

19th HM Destroyer Beaufort bombards Kos with HM Destroyers FURY and HM Escort Destroyer HURWORTH.

20th HM Destroyer Beaufort, after laying up in Turkish waters in daylight to avoid air attacks, carries out an interception patrol.

21st HM Destroyer Beaufort lands troops at Alinda Bay with HM Destroyer FURY. HM Destroyer Beaufort bombards Kos harbour which was being used by German invasion craft. HM Destroyer Beaufort comes under air attacks.

26th HM Destroyer Beaufort deploys with HM Destroyer FAULK NOR and HM Escort Destroyer BELVOIR on patrol in Rhodes Channel. HM Destroyer Beaufort lays up during daylight in the Gulf of Kos.

29th HM Destroyer Beaufort embarks 60 soldiers and Jeeps for passage to Casteloriso and sails with HM Destroyer PETARD and HM Escort Destroyer BELVOIR. HM Destroyer Beaufort meets with HM Cruiser AURORA in Turkish waters. HM Destroyer Beaufort comes under heavy air attacks during which HM Cruiser AURORA is hit and set on fire.

30th HM Destroyer Beaufort returns to Alexandria as close escort for the damaged HMS AURORA.

Deployment in support of Aegean Operations in continuation.

November 1943.

10th HM Destroyer Beaufort comes under air attacks on passage to bombard Kos harbour with Greek destroyer PINDOS and HM Destroyer FAULKNOR.

11th HM Destroyer Beaufort bombards Kos Harbour before taking shelter in Turkish waters.

12th HM Destroyer Beaufort remains in Turkish waters because of the domination of German aircraft.

13th HM Destroyer Beaufort bombards the German positions on Mount Clidi, Leros in support of British army units.

14th HM Destroyer Beaufort returns to Alexandria.

The arrival of German reinforcements ends the defence of Leros and all naval support operations end when the island falls on 16th November.

Notes extracted from the following Despatch: Naval Operations in the Aegean between 7th September 1943 and 28th November 1943.

October 1943.

On the 12th (October) the cruiser "Phoebe" was deployed with "Beaufort" and the escort destroyer "Belvoir" to locate an enemy convoy but withdrew after coming under air attack.

On the 15th (October) reconnaissance indicated that an enemy convoy of two merchant ships and two landing craft off Naxos was proceeding eastwards. It was thought that they were taking reinforcements to Kos. "Beaufort" and "Belvoir" were ordered to search for them. The enemy was aware of their presence and they were heavily attacked by a force of Ju87's and Ju 88's, but escaped damage.

On the night of the 16th /17th (October) the cruiser "Sirius" with the destroyers "Pathfinder" and "Eclipse" and "Beaufort" took reinforcements to the British garrison at Leros and came under air attack the following day (18th October). After joining up with the cruiser "Aurora" the force came under a further series of air attacks during which "Sirius" was hit south of the Scarpanto Strait.

On the night 19th/20th (October) "Fury", "Beaufort"

	and "Hurworth" bombarded enemy positions on Kos. On the 20th (October) after laying up in Turkish waters in daylight to avoid air attacks, "Beaufort" carried out an interception patrol. On the night of the 21st/22nd (October) "Fury" and "Beaufort" landed troops at Alinda Bay and bombarded Kos harbour which was being used by enemy invasion craft. Both ships came under air attack. Notes: Of the seven HM Ships of the 5th Destroyer Flotilla (Hunt class escort destroyers) only HM Ships Beaufort and Avon Vale survived the War. On 21 March 1942 HM Ship Heythrop was sunk off Sidi Barrani by U 652. On 24th March 1942 HM Ship Southwold hit a mine off the island of Malta and sank. On 28th July 1942 after bombarding an enemy airfield at El Daba HM Ship Eridge was attacked and severely damaged by an E-boat. After being towed to Alexandria by the escort destroyer HM Ship Aldenham it was decided that she was not repairable and was hulked. On 22nd October 1943 HM Ship Hurworth hit a mine off the island of Kos and sank. On 13th November 1943 HM Ship Dulverton was hit by a glider bomb off the island of Kos and sank. HMS Kestral was formerly the RAF base at Worthy Down, being at one time the site of the Winchester racecourse. Worthy Down was handed over to the Royal Navy on Empire day 1939 and became HMS Kestral. The base was used as a training school for telegraphist air-gunners during the early days of World War Two and as a training school for fleet air arm pilots until 1942, when it became a school of aircraft maintenance. After the end of the War the base became a rehabilitation and vocational training Centre. HMS Kestral was paid off in July 1952. Horsey was born in Portsmouth in 1912. After being demobilised in England in 1947, Horsey emigrated to South Africa. He died in Johannesburg in 1985. According to his son David "he was almost deaf from the shelling". Sold with a quantity of original personal, service and war related photographs and with a quantity of copied service papers and research.
