V	112	Anglo-Boere Oorlog Medalje (Veldkornet A.P.R. Pienaar). A historically significant medal. Albertus Pieter Roux Pienaar, Field Cornet, General Smuts's Commando, Boer Forces. He seems to have joined the Boer forces in Klerksdorp. During the year that followed the outbreak of war he saw service under Generals J. H. de la Rey, and P. J. Liebenberg. Joined General J.C. Smuts's Commando, circa December 1900. The Commando crossed the border between the Orange Free State and Cape Colony, 3 or 4 September 1901, defeating the 17th Lancers at Elandsrivierspoort, 17 September 1901, and going into action on the Kariëga River in the Aberdeen district, 14 October 1901. Albert Pienaar and seven others – including Deneys Reitz – who had formed the right rearguard, were separated from the main Commando during the action. They had many adventures in their efforts to re-join General Smuts, graphically described in Reitz's book, Commando. "Quite rightly Smuts regarded the exploit of Willie Conradie, Cornelius Brink, Wijnand Pijpers, Albert van Rooyen, Albertus Pienaar, Willie van der Merwe, Michael du Preez and Deneys Reitz as being of the highest order. They had returned to the commando after being adrift for three weeks in enemy held territory, and got back fit and intact, with only Reitz dismounted" (T. and D. Shearing, General Jan Smuts and His Long Ride (2000), p. 121).		6500
